Announcing Hacker Evolution 2010 for the iPhone and iPod

Cluj Napoca, Romania, European Union, June 14, 2009

exosyphen studios, a game development studio with a long standing experience and reputation, is pleased to announce a new and challenging game for the iPhone and iPod .

Play the role of a computer hacker in Hacker Evolution 2010 for the iPhone and iPod. Combining elements of action, strategy and puzzles this game is guaranteed to challenge you. Try and hack as many computers as possible in a global network, using various methods and strategies. Bounce your connection through several servers or use viruses to achieve your objective.

As you advance through the game, you will learn that careful planning and complex strategies are needed to stay in the game for as long as possible, and increase your score.

You can submit your score to the online ranking system and see where you stand, among other players.

Hacker Evolution 2010 is available for $0.99 in the Apple App Store.
